MYSTERY OF HUN PRE-WAR ACTION IS UNDERSTOOD

Treatment Of Agriculturists Of U. S. On Investigation Tour Is Explained.

ROME, April 29.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press)—That the German Imperial government prevented American farmers from learning about and profiting from the German plan of agricultural cooperation has just been revealed here in connection with the charge that the Germans sought even after the war had been in progress three years to obtain control of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome.

The effort to hide the workings of Landschaft system, which David Lubin, United States delegate to the Institute, has declared to be the foundation of German success both in war and peace, is described in the reports of the American Commission which in 1913 visited all the countries of Europe for the purpose of obtaining farming information looking to the establishment of the rural credit system and other aids to the farmer.

The entire representation of the visitors from all the countries of the world, consisted of 120 members, about one half of whom came from the United States and Canada. The commission was well received in Italy, Austria, and other countries, and apparently well received in Germany, but recent events have explained the backwardness of the Germans in making clear explanations to questions asked.

The commission was met by Dr. Nikola Kaumanns, representing the German government. He had previously been the German Imperial Commissioner of Agriculture to the United States. It is now claimed he had specific orders to prevent the Americans, in particular, from getting the farm information they were so eagerly seeking.

The effort of Dr. Kaumanns to prevent the Americans from obtaining information was at the time considered merely a hostile attitude of a person at nature. But considered in the light of more recent actions, it is now regarded here as part of the operation of the German system.

SOLDIER KILLED WHILE BEGGAR ESCAPES UNHURT

Parisians Wonder At Ways Of Providence Which Spares Useless Ones.

(By Associated Press to The Banner). PARIS, May 9.—Radiating strength, vigor and health, filled with exuberance through the sheer joy of living a young soldier was walking in the beautiful bright Spring sunshine yesterday afternoon.

On a street corner was an old man with shaggy hair, a few rags covering his emaciated body, holding out a greasy hat in an unwashed hand, picture of uselessness. The youth dropped a copper into the old beggar's hat.

Then, suddenly, without warning, one of those abominable German shells burst with an ear-piercing shriek and the young soldier was instantly killed.

The beggar escaped untouched. He is holding out his hat to passers-by on the same spot today.

Compare Your Baby's First Four Years With This

In 1913 Little Marie was born in a village not far from Mezieres, in the Ardennes.

In 1914 Marie's father, called to the colors, fell at the Marne. And Marie and her mother stayed in the village, which was now in the Germans' hands.

In 1915 a poster was pasted up on the door of the village church, and that night Marie's mother vanished, along with a score or more of other women.

In 1916 Marie was still living in that village—existing through the charity of the few elderly folk the Germans permitted to stay.

In 1917 Marie, with all the children under fourteen years and all the old people left alive in the village, was bundled into a crowded car and shipped into Germany, round through Switzerland and thence into France, arriving at Evian. She was underfed, of course, emaciated, sickly, dirty, too lightly dressed for the time of year. And she came into Evian with not a relative, not a friend left in all France to take care of her.

Who took her? Your Red Cross! Over there in Evian your Red Cross took charge of her, cared for her in the Red Cross Children's Hospital, clothed her, fed her, built up her strength, taught her to play—and then helped the French authorities find her a HOME.

Multiply Marie by 500 and you will have some idea of just one day's work your Red Cross does at Evian. It is only one of the Red Cross activities in France, to be sure—but for just that one alone can you help being proud of it? Can you help being glad you are a member of it, supporting its great work of humanity? Can you help wanting it to go on helping the Maries and the "grand-daddies" that come in at Evian?

THE TRAIN THAT SAVED A NATION

How the Red Cross Helped Roumania.

Have you heard of what happened in Roumania when that stricken nation stood in rags and starving before the shocked eyes of the world? We had thought ourselves grown used to tragedies until this greater horror struck a blow that 'roused still untouched sympathies.

And yet we felt so helpless, you and I, so terribly weak in our ability to offer aid. But were we? After all, were we not the very ones who carried new life and hope to the heart of Roumania? You shall be your own judge.

Fighting with the desperation of despair, the shattered Roumanian army still struggled to beat off the Kaiser's bloody Huns, who were mercilessly trampling the life out of the little kingdom. And the Kaiser smiled brutally as he saw his wolves at work and knew that from behind the lines, attacking the fighting men of Roumania from the rear, entering the homes where mothers clung to the frail, distorted forms of their babies—was starvation.

No country around Roumania could help her—and America was too far away. 'Thousands would die before supplies held in our own country could be sent her.

Hope was gone. Death by hunger and by the dripping sword of the Kaiser was closing in. A brave little nation was being torn to pieces.

Then came the miracle. One morning the streets of Jassy, the war capital of Roumania, swelled with sounds of rejoicing. A city where the day before there was heard nothing but the walls of the starving and the lamentations of those mourning their dead now was awakened by shouts of joy.

You, my friend; you who have helped in the heroic work of the American Red Cross, had gone to the rescue of Roumania. A train of 31 big freight cars packed to their utmost capacity with food, clothing and medicine, tons upon tons of it, had arrived in Jassy after making a record breaking trip from the great store houses of the American Red Cross in Russia. Other trains followed it; thousands were fed and clothed and nursed back to health. For weeks and even to this day the brave people of Roumania are being cared for in countless numbers by our own Red Cross.

So was Roumania helped, and when history records how this last fragment of a sturdy nation was kept out of the hands of the terrible Huns it will give the victory to your American Red Cross.

This war is important enough for men to die for. Isn't it important enough to you to save as many lives as possible by purchasing War Savings Stamps.

Sparrow Pies.

Jacob Rills describes in one of his delightful essays how the good old housekeeper in his Danish home used to climb to the eaves to rob the sparrows' nests for a delectable pie. Now Mr. James Hunt of Philadelphia, who is crusading against the English sparrow, advocates the pie as the true destiny of the sparrow. He furnished the sparrows for such a pie opened in Washington recently at a luncheon served by the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

The guests declared that the pie was good, and the flavor of the sparrow was superior to chicken and equal to partridge. Washington boys found this out long ago in their secret sparrow roasts, where dozens of these tidbits were spitted on wires before the blaze and devoured by these food platters. Cleaning a sparrow is a simple matter of cutting the breast away from all other parts and skinning. Special traps are used for catching sparrows. These are set near favorite rookeries and dozens of sparrows are caught at a time.

Proper Food for Weak Stomachs

The proper food for one man may be all wrong for another. Everyone should be advised to adopt a diet suited to his age and occupation. Those who have weak stomachs need to be especially careful and should eat slowly and masticate their food thoroughly. It is also important that they keep their bowels regular. When they become constipated or when they feel dull and stupid after eating, they should take Chamberlain's Tablets to strengthen the stomach and move the bowels. They are easy to take and pleasant in effect.

Road to Happiness

Be amiable, cheerful and good natured and you are much more likely to be happy. You will find this difficult, if not impossible, however, when you are constantly troubled with constipation. Take Chamberlain's Tablets and get rid of that and it will be easy. These tablets not only move the bowels, but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion.
